Fonds Description

Department of Animal Science fonds – 1955-1981, 1989.

76.5 cm of textual records

Administrative History

The Department of Animal Science grew out of the Division of Animal Science which had been established through the consolidation of the Departments of Animal Husbandry and Dairying in 1955. The Division of Animal Science became the Department of Animal Science in 1969. In 1986, the former Departments of Animal and Poultry Science were discontinued and their programs transferred to the new Department of Animal Science. The Department has teaching and research facilities for study in nutrition, physiology, genetics, production management, behaviour, embryology, wildlife management and aquaculture science.

Scope and Content

Fonds consists of minutes from the Dept. of Animal Science (1970-1981), the Dept. of Poultry Science (1968-1982), and the University Research Farm (Oyster River) Management Committee (1955/56). Also included are records pertaining to the Faculty of Agricultural Sciences in general. Much of the material appears to have been gathered by Warren Dale Kitts who served as head of the Dept. of Animal Science and later as Dean of the Faculty of Agricultural Sciences.
