Administrative history / Biographical sketch

Note

Peter Moogk was born in 1943 in West Chilmington, England to Canadian parents. Moogk received primary and secondary schooling in the Canadian provinces of Ontario and Saskatchewan. Moogk undertook his first two years of university studies at the University of Saskatchewan from 1961-1963. Soon after, he transferred to the University of Toronto, where he completed a B.A. Hons. degree in History in 1965. In 1966, Moogk completed an M.A. in History. By 1973, Moogk received a Ph.D. in History from the University of Toronto after defending a thesis titled "A Social History of the Craftsmen of New France."

Moogk became an assistant professor in the University of British Columbia's History department in 1969. He advanced to the position of associate professor in 1977 and professor in 2000. Moogk's scholarly research focused on American loyalist history from 1774-1800; the social and cultural history of early French Canada, including Acadia, prior to 1800; eighteenth century European and colonial currency; Ontario's Niagara region before 1867; and twentieth-century Canadian military history.

In addition to publishing several monographs and numerous articles, Moogk was an active member of many provincial and national historical societies, including the British Columbia Heritage Society, the Canadian Historical Association, the Canadian Numismatic Association, the United Empire Loyalists' Association of Canada, and the French Colonial Historical Society. Moogk was also involved in local historical societies in the province which focused on transit history, including the Steveston Interurban Restoration Society and the Transit Museum Society.

Moogk's contributions to academia and historical societies were affirmed by numerous awards, including the Saint-Marie Prize for outstanding contributions to seventeenth century Canadian History (1975) and the Alfred A. Heggoy prize of the French Colonial Historical Society for the best book on French colonial history published in 2000.

Moogk retired in 2005, and in 2006, he became professor emeritus.

Scope and content

The collection comprises records acquired by Peter Moogk about aspects of British Columbia's history, including the British Columbia Electric Railway Company's interurban train lines (predominantly from 1909-1958), and photographic representations of persons (especially white settlers, from 1870-1960), places, events and activities in the province.

The collection includes five series: British Columbia Electric Railway Company Records, Portraits of Persons in British Columbia, Photos of places, streets, and architecture in British Columbia, Photos of events and activities in British Columbia, and British Columbia ephemera.

Records relating to the first series, British Columbia Electric Railway Company Records, include: photographs; postcards; original BCER documents, such as union agreements and timetables; BCER employee publications; transit tokens; signs and posters from within Vancouver streetcars; and a copy of a CJOR radio script.

Records relating to the second series, Portraits of Persons in British Columbia, include: photographs and handwritten notes by Moogk about Vancouver photographers operating from 1858-1920.

The focus of the third series, Photos of places, streets, and architecture in British Columbia, is photographs of structures and places of British Columbia, notably building exteriors and interiors, and street views from 1880-1959.

The fourth series, Photos of events and activities in British Columbia, includes photos of notable events and public activities (predominantly dating 1911-1941), as well as everyday life, and also includes handwritten and photocopied information on the provenance of the photos and activities depicted.

The fifth series, British Columbia ephemera, is mostly paper ephemera representing the variety of business and activity in the province from 1890 to 1990, and includes menus, theatre programs, business correspondence, as well as some photographic materials.

Notes

Title notes

- Source of title proper: Title based on the contents of the collection.

Immediate source of acquisition

UBC Library's Rare Books and Special Collections acquired the materials directly from the collector, Peter Moogk, in four accruals: 2016, 2017, 2018, and 2019.

Arrangement

The collection was received in three accruals following the initial acquisition. The first series (2016), British Columbia Electric Railway Company Records, represents the original acquisition. The first accrual (2017) correlates to the second series, Portraits of Persons in British Columbia. The second accrual (2018) included the third through fifth series. Also as part of the second accrual, some photos were added to the first and second series--these photos were identified by Moogk as having been unintentionally left out of the first two accruals. The fourth accrual (2019) consisted of a single file added to the BCER series.

Each series represents distinct aspects of Moogk's collecting activities. In each series, the archivists maintained Moogk's original physical order, in which records are often arranged in files according to subject and documentary form.

The materials were originally received in binders: the title of each series is based on the collecting focus of the series, and the folder titles represent the original binder titles. Often the series and folder titles are very similar.

Location of originals

Some materials are reproductions, and the location of originals is not always known.

Conditions governing use

Some materials in the collection are still protected by copyright.

Series descriptions

British Columbia Electric Railway Company Records

Date: [ca. 1909-2004; predominant 1909-1958] (date of creation)

Scope and content:

The series consists of records gathered by Peter Moogk relating to the British Columbia Electric Railway Company's (BCER) interurban train lines. These records were originally created by the BCER, its successor (BC Hydro and Power Authority), and various photographers between 1909 and 1989. Special areas of focus in Moogk's collection include streetcars and city buses in the Lower Mainland, Victoria, and Saanich; BCER employees' social events; and civic events in Victoria. The series preserves Moogk's original order, in which files contain materials grouped by subject and documentary form. Record types include photographs—primarily black and white copy prints, in addition to a limited number of colour photographs and postcards; original BCER documents, including union agreements, timetables, BCER employees' publications such as newsletters and magazines, land registry forms, employment applications, accident reports, insurance records, tickets and passes, transit tokens, internal correspondence, signs and posters from inside streetcars; and a copy of a CJOR radio script about the BCER for the program Salute to Industry.

Portraits of Persons in British Columbia

Date: [ca. 1870-1960] (date of creation)

Scope and content:

The series consists of portrait photographs of persons in British Columbia from 1870-1960. Portrait photographs were originally created by a number of photographers, including P.L. Okamura, Hannah Maynard, and S.A. Spencer. Photographs created after 1880 tend to be the products of amateur or street photographers, and as a result, individuals depicted therein are in informal attire. Most of the individuals depicted in the photographs are not identified. The predominant focus of the series is on representations of white settler society—particularly children--though photographs of Indigenous persons and persons of colour are included as well.

Moogk's original physical order is preserved in the series. Record types include photographs--particularly tintypes, cartes de visite, and studio cabinet photographs; handwritten notes by Moogk outlining Vancouver photographers operative from 1858-1920; newspaper clippings related to Vancouver photographers; and cards from street photographers.

Physical description: 389 photographs : b&w.

Note:

Includes the following photographs: RBSC-ARC-1759-PH-566 to RBSC-ARC-1759-PH-958, and RBSC-ARC-1759-PH-1587, RBSC-ARC-1759-PH-1589, and RBSC-ARC-1759-PH-1592.

Note:

Photographs were purchased by Moogk in the province of Ontario and Washington State.

Accruals:

As part of the 2018 accrual, 3 photographs were added to the series.

Photos of events and activities in British Columbia

Date: [ca. 1867-1955; predominant 1911-1941] (date of creation)

Scope and content:

This series focuses on images of notable events, as well as scenes of everyday life and activity in British Columbia. Events depicted include construction (the building of the Lions Gate Bridge) and destruction (notably a sequence of photographs showing the 1938 fire at CPR Pier D in Vancouver), as well as public gatherings like parades and celebrations, such as the 1936 Golden Jubilee of Vancouver's Chinatown. There are also high-profile visits featuring the Governor-General the Duke of Connaught (1912), and Edward, Prince of Wales (later King Edward VIII) in 1919. Everyday life photographs focus on work scenes and industry, shipping, pastimes and recreation. These include images of patriotic activities during World War II. Many of the photographs have provenance or other identifying information written on the back, including the original location of the photograph if it is a copy from another archives or collection.

Some photographs are accompanied by photocopies of newspaper coverage and other information on the event pictured.

Physical description: 400 photographs : bw & col., 70 negatives, and 29 textual records

Note:

Series includes the following photographs (and some negatives): RBSC-ARC-1759-PH-1076 to RBSC-ARC-1759-PH-1544, and RBSC-ARC-1759-PH-1588, RBSC-ARC-1759-PH-1590 and RBSC-ARC-1759-PH-1591.
