Administrative history / Biographical sketch

Note

The eldest son of William White, bookseller and printer, of Bedford, William Hale White worked as a civil servant for much of his career as well as being involved with the Westminster Review in the 1850s. His fame as an author rests chiefly upon his pseudonymous autobiographical works, The Autobiography of Mark Rutherford (1881), its sequel Mark Rutherford's Deliverance (1910), and Pages from a journal (1900).

Scope and content

The fonds consists chiefly of William Hale White's correspondence with family and friends, manuscript notebooks of his books, published and unpublished manuscripts, subject files, clippings, and bound pamphlets on a variety of philosophical and religious topics. The fonds also contains the correspondence of Dorothy Vernon White as well as notebook manuscripts of her books and the correspondence of Cecily Hale-White (daughter of John Hale White).

Notes

Title notes

- Source of title proper: Title based on the contents of the fonds.

Immediate source of acquisition

All of the William Hale White and Dorothy Vernon White papers in this collection were obtained from Simon Nowell-Smith, the nephew of Dorothy Vernon White . They came to the Library at the University of British Columbia as part of the larger Colbeck Collection. After the donation of the Colbeck Collection to UBC, Nowell-Smith made a small donation to UBC of his own personal papers related to William Hale White and Dorothy Vernon White.

Arrangement

The material obtained from Simon Nowell-Smith was received in a partially-arranged state. In the case of these correspondence files and some of the subject files, Nowell-Smith's arrangement and file descriptions were retained. The White family papers were not received from Nowell-Smith, and were in considerable disarray, and arrangement was imposed by Special Collections.

Accruals

No further acquisitions are expected.

Series descriptions

W.H. White and D.V. White correspondence

Date: 1852-1917, 1890-1913 predominant (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Series is composed of incoming correspondence and drafts and originals of outgoing correspondence to and from William Hale White and/or Dorothy Vernon White. The large majority of files are W.H. White's incoming and outgoing correspondence . Correspondents include W.H. White's literary and other friends, communications with publishers, and with family members. Some files include correspondence with both W .H. White and D.V. White.

Physical description: 18 cm of textual records

Note:

"to/from" in file titles indicates incoming and outgoing correspondence in the same file. This was done because W. H. White often wrote drafts of outgoing correspondence on the backs of the correspondence that he received.

W.H. White manuscripts

Date: 1860-1929, 1900-1912 predominant (date of creation)

Scope and content:

This series is composed of the manuscripts of published and unpublished material written by W. H. White. The notebooks sub-series includes the "Dorothy", "Black", and "White" notebooks, in which W. H. White documents his relationship with D.V. White. For the published materials sub-series, file titles and dates were supplied by D. V. White. With the exception of "Notes on Shelley" and "A Visit to Carlyle" these items were all included in Last Pages from a Journal. "A Visit to Carlyle" was published in Pages from a Journal.
