RECORD

Aged about 65 and married; has had long experience in the cutlery line; for a time reported employed by Rice, Lewis, Ltd., as a traveling salesman, latterly with T. B. Lee, wholesale hardware specialties of this City. Severed his connection with T. B. Lee to commence on his own account About September 1918. Under date of June 20th, 1919, registered as conducting business under style of W. J. Taylor & Co., being sole owner, operating from 64 Wellington St. W. Some time in 1919, discontinued operations at latter address and operated from his residence at 530 Brunswick Ave., although there is no registration of change in style.

STATEMENTS

Several attempts have been made of late to obtain statement of affairs, and on recently calling at his residence, found that he has been out of the City some time on a vacation, and would likely remain away for some weeks yet.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Since commencing on his own account, is credited with having done fairly well in a small way, and it is reported by authorities that he is in fairly easy circumstances. In financial circles the account has been well spoken of, where has always had the reputation of attending to maturing obligations in a prompt and satisfactory manner. Has been granted small accommodation, which has always been promptly retired.

TRADE INFORMATION

Is not buying from local houses. Understood to be buying in the United States and England, from where trade information is being sought.
