Title: The Doris Shadbolt Fonds [textual record, graphic material]

Dates: 1927 - 1990

Extent: 3.87m.

Biographical Sketch: Doris Shadbolt was born in 1918 in Preston, Ontario. She pursued and enjoyed a life-long interest in the arts, having studied Fine Arts at the University of Toronto before beginning her career as a research assistant at the Art Gallery of Ontario (1942-43), the National Gallery of Canada (1943-45) and the Metropolitan Museum in New York (1948-49). In 1950 Shadbolt went to work for the Vancouver Art Gallery, where over 25 years she was educator, curator and finally Associate Director. During this time modernist art practices and markets were being challenged, and art was moving off the walls and into territories of collaboration, performance and new media. Doris facilitated this activity while at the same time bringing the best pop and conceptual art work to Vancouver and establishing the city as part of a national and international scene. Through her activities and exhibitions, she had a major impact on the formation of a West Coast identity founded on Emily Carr and First Nations work. Exhibitions of note staged during her tenure at the Vancouver Art Gallery include Arts of the Raven (1967), New York 13 (1969), Emily Carr: A Centennial Exhibition (1971), and Sculpture of the Inuit (1969).

Also during the '60s and '70s she worked with the Canadian Eskimo Art Council to encourage Inuit art production and distribution; she is now an honorary member of the board of the Inuit Art Foundation. She was a knowledgeable and influential board or committee member for such organizations as the Canadian Film Development Corporation, the National Museums of Canada, the Canadian Cultural Property Export Review Board, the Canadian Craft Museum and the Canada Council.

In 1988, Doris and her husband, renowned artist Jack Shadbolt, founded the Vancouver Institute for Visual Arts (VIVA), which awards prizes of $10,000 every two years to two visual or media artists and a prize of $50,000 every five years to an artist or art worker who has made a lasting contribution to the art scene in British Columbia. After the death of her husband in 1998, Doris Shadbolt donated numerous works of art to museums and organizations that encourage young and emerging artists.

In March 2000 Mrs. Shadbolt received the first-ever Governor-General's Award in Visual and Media Arts, Canada's highest cultural distinction. One of seven laureates, she was the first to be honoured specifically for "voluntarism, philanthropy, board governance or community outreach activities." She was also honoured with the Order of Canada in 1976, as well as degrees from Simon Fraser University, the University of British Columbia and the Emily Carr Institute of Art and Design.

Doris Shadbolt enjoyed a long and distinguished career in the arts—as an educator, curator, art historian, author, philanthropist and volunteer. She played an influential and inspirational role in the broad Canadian artistic community and especially in British Columbia. She continued to serve the artistic community up until her death in December of 2003 at the age of 85.

Scope and Content: Fonds reflects Mrs. Shadbolt's research and publishing activities into the life and works of Emily Carr. These activities include gathering information relating to the entirety of Emily Carr's career through worksheets, photographs, and correspondence with many owners of Carr works. Mrs. Shadbolt's research is represented by a number of journals which record her investigations into the life of Emily Carr, listings of owner information from across the country, and copies of articles and letters about Emily Carr, including an original letter from Emily Carr dated November 27, 1943. Mrs. Shadbolt's literary works are also represented in the fonds, specifically The Art of Emily Carr (1980), Emily Carr (1990), and Seven Journeys: The Sketchbooks of Emily Carr (2002). There is a large bulk of information about Emily Carr, which spans articles, newspaper clippings, and a variety of publications, mostly exhibition catalogues. Lastly there is material relating to personal interests and activities of Mrs. Shadbolt which include answering appraisal requests or providing authentication information on Carr works, as well as various clippings relating to book reviews and arts-themed stories.

Series List – Doris Shadbolt Fonds

Title: Worksheets [textual record, graphic material]

Dates: [196- to 197-]

Extent: 2.66m. – 610 photographs; 8x10 or smaller. – 395 negatives. – 395 slides.

Scope and Content: This series represents efforts begun in the 1960s to assemble a catalogue raisonne, or critical bibliography, of Carr's works. As Mrs. Shadbolt explains in the preface to The Art of Emily Carr due to the "prolific and disparate nature" of Emily Carr's output, as well as a lack of time to devote to the project, the catalogue raisonne was never completed. However, information gathered during this time formed the basis for The Art of Emily Carr.

Each worksheet corresponds to a work by Emily Carr and records a variety of information about that work – title, dimensions, description, and description, for example. The worksheet was also used to record owner information. The worksheet is usually accompanied by an 8x10 black and white photograph of the work, along with a negative and a slide, although this varies – sometimes there is a worksheet only, sometimes the graphic material is present without a worksheet. Individual files were labelled according to the name of the work it contained and who the owner was (at the time the information was collected) but, again, this may vary – sometimes only the title of the work is record, and other only the owner name is indicated. In either case, the original file folder label has been retained in the new folder.

The worksheets are arranged in two groupings – chronological and loose. Chronological grouping applies to those worksheets assembled according to the development of Emily Carr's career and corresponds to the original order imposed by Mrs. Shadbolt. This original order has been maintained within the fonds description. These worksheets were contained in individual files identified by owner and title of work.

Loose grouping applies to those worksheets found scattered throughout the entirety of Mrs. Shadbolt's material and are worksheets not included in the chronological files.

The following is an inventory containing the second accession of the Doris Shadbolt papers received by the UBC Rare Books and Special Collections, from the Shadbolt Estate in 2007. This is the first accrual and contains materials and objects relating to the personal and professional life of Doris Shadbolt -- most of which are similar to the papers in the first accession. These items reflect Shadbolt's life throughout her career as well as items leading up to her death in 2003. Arrangement and description of this accrual primarily reflects the first order prepared in 2003 for consistency, whereby some additional series have been added and some subseries deleted for clarity. The following are modifications in this description which differ from the former arrangement and description:

- 1) d) Research / Notes series has been changed to d) Research and Information series.
 - a. Added three new sub-series:
 - iv. Essays and pamphlets;
 - v. Funding; and
 - vi. Index Cards

- 2) h) Emily Carr – Collected information
 - a. Added three new sub-series:
 - v. Carr exhibition;
 - vi. Images; and
 - vii Writing and research

- 3) j) Doris Shadbolt – Miscellaneous
 - a. Added two new sub-series:
 - vi. Estate
 - vii. Jack

- 4) Added new series: k) Bill Reid (Name of book by Doris Shadbolt).
 - a. Sub-series include the following:
 - i. Articles and clippings
 - ii. Biographical
 - iii. Essays
 - iv. The Raven's Call
 - v. Research and notes
 - vi. Professional

- 6) Photograph series has been added instead of integrating photographs into the current series and sub-series (i.e. photoprints, photonegatives, phototransparencies and slides).

SERIES/SUB-SERIES DESCRIPTIONS

b) Worksheets (Loose). – 195[?].
.25 cm of textual material.

Series contains loose worksheets which has information about owners of Emily Carr works and details about the work at hand.

Note: this series has restrictions.

This series is contained in its entirety in Box#28, file# 28-1.

c) Correspondence. – 1979 – 2003.
14 cm of textual material.

This series contains both incoming and copies of outgoing correspondence.

This series contains professional correspondence to and from Doris Shadbolt. Since there was no previous order and many of the file titles did not match the contents, most of the correspondence has been arranged by date from most recent to latest unless otherwise noted. Correspondence largely consists of incoming letters from art galleries, publishers, and colleagues relating to Doris' role as a curator, researcher, colleague and writer.

Files also contain additional documents such as essays, pamphlets, notices, faxes, meeting agendas, Xeroxed images, artists CVs, one certificate, and one travel report to Doris and clippings relating to the correspondence at hand. Some of the correspondence includes personal letters which intersect into Doris' professional life.

Contents of each folder are arranged by date from most recent to latest, with undated correspondence at the back of the particular year in question. Correspondence without a year is located in an individual folder. Correspondence that was originally located in a specified labeled file by Doris has also been separated into individual folders.

This series is contained in its entirety in Box# 28, file# 28-2 through to Box # 29, file# 29-2.

d) Research and Information. – 1971-2003.
8.5 cm of textual material.
4 sets of index cards.

This series contains files relating to research, essays and notes Doris collected regarding various professional projects, galleries, associations, funding, royalty reports and artists.

Index cards mostly relate to research about Emily Carr, some research regarding Bill Reid and research about other First Nations artists/carvers. Cards were created and used by Doris Shadbolt for tracking works, dates and artists.

This series is contained in its entirety in Box# 29, file# 29-3 through to file# 29-15.

- iv) Essays and pamphlets. – 1958-2000.
6.5 cm of textual material

Fonds description

Doris Shadbolt fonds.

2. 4 m of textual and other materials.

Administrative history/Biographical sketch: See administrative history/ biographical sketch in original description and accrual (pg 3 and 82).

Custodial history: Accrual was in the custody of author Karen Prince before the estate's transfer to RBSC by Arnie Sandovnick, the executor of Doris Shadbolt's Estate in 2010.

Scope and content: Fonds consists of records related to Shadbolt's personal and family life, and professional life. These records document her activities as a writer and researcher, curator of the Vancouver Art Gallery, active participant in the local, national and international artistic community, lecture and guest speaker. The fonds includes correspondences, notebooks, calendars, lecture and speaking notes, research notes, articles and other collected materials related to Shadbolt's independent research on a variety of topics related to local, national and international art and artists, annotated books, photographs and sound recordings.

The fonds is arranged into the six following series: Correspondence and personal records (ca.1910-2003); Calendars and notebooks (ca.1940-2002), Writing and research records (ca.1950-2002), Vancouver Art Gallery operational files (1958-1994), Awards (1971 – 2002), and Professional activities (1985-2003). For other relevant records from previous accruals see earlier finding aids.

Source of title proper: Title based on the provenance of the fonds.

Physical description note: Fonds contains 2.4 meters of textual records, ca. 1100 photographs, 8 cassette taps, 1 videocassette tape, 1 CD, and 1 3 ¼ disk.

Language note: Some personal correspondence and notebooks are in French, see series level descriptions for more information.

Restrictions on access, reproduction and publication note: Some restrictions apply, please see series and file level descriptions for more detail.

Accruals note: No further accruals expected.
