Fonds Description

Faculty Association of the University of British Columbia fonds. – 1920-2004.

9.02 metres of textual records.

3 audio-cassettes.

Administrative History

The Faculty Association of UBC was first constituted in 1921, with the object being "the consideration of matters that were of interest to the membership of this Association, especially of such matters as cannot be legally discussed by the Faculties of the University." Membership consisted of all members of the teaching staff holding the rank of Instructor or above, and the Librarian. Officers consisted of a President, a Vice-president and a Secretary-Treasurer. By 1930 the Association's objectives had evolved to promote, direct and control activities not already apportioned to other University bodies, including obtaining insurance and recreation, to acquire buildings and land and to promote good fellowship. Non-voting membership at that time was open to teaching and laboratory assistants and to long-term members of the Library and clerical staff. By 1931, the Executive was changed to include a Treasurer and three members of Committee. In 1951 it was made compulsory for all members of the teaching staff from the rank of Instructor to the President. A number of standing committees were also created at this time to deal with pensions and group insurance, medical and hospital services, personnel services, salaries and promotions, and the Faculty Club. In 1975 the Faculty Club and the Association separated. Also in 1975, it created the office of Executive Director, providing it with continuity of administrative and political presence on campus. The Association has also continued to be concerned with salary negotiations and fringe benefits, defence of academic freedom, professional ethics, University government and the University environment. In 1975 members sought certification under the Labour Code. Although this was not achieved, a Framework Agreement for Collective Bargaining was voluntarily negotiated between the Faculty Association and the University. Efforts since then have been expended on salary negotiations, putting pressure on the Administration and on the government to restore adequate funding to higher education in British Columbia, providing support to the Confederation of University Faculty Associations of British Columbia, and pressuring for gender equity.

Custodial History

These records were transferred from the Faculty Association office and several Executive members to the University Archives between 1970 and 2001.

Scope and Content

The fonds consists of records generated by the Faculty Association in pursuit of its mandate to promote the welfare of the Faculty and the University of British Columbia. The records were organized according to a number of filing schemes, which were mainly alphabetical in nature, and constantly changing. Lack of consistency in the arrangement of the records impeded access. Accordingly, the archivist, after analyzing the records, has grouped the files into fifteen identifiable series. The original file titles have been retained.

Notes

Audio-cassettes are stored separately.

Additional information available in the "Faculty" fonds - a record of meetings held by the President of UBC with faculty before the Faculty Association was formed. For more historical information, see A Matter of Identities: A History of the UBC Faculty Association, 1920-1990 by William A. Bruneau.
