Administrative history / Biographical sketch

Note

Gordon Goichi Nakayama was born in Ozu, Japan, on 16 Nov. 1900, the third of seven children, to a farmer, Zengoro Nakayama, and his wife, Toku Nakayama. Following his father's death, Nakayama moved to Kyoto at the age of 14 and graduated from Ryoyo Gakuen High School in 1918 before entering Ritsumeikan University briefly. In October 1919, Nakayama traveled to Vancouver, B.C., with the intention of becoming a physician. Although he was raised in the Buddhist faith, Nakayama converted to Christianity and was baptized at the Japanese Methodist Church in September 1920. Forced to give up his studies due to poor health, Nakayama taught at the Japanese language school in Maple Ridge, B.C. (1922-1923), and later served as the principal of the Japanese language school in the Fairview area of Vancouver (1924-1929). During this time, Nakayama also attended Vancouver Bible School from 1924-1927.

Nakayama married Lois Masui Yao (25 May 1897-27 Nov. 1987), an Anglican missionary and kindergarten teacher, on 23 Sept. 1926, and became interested in the Anglican Church. Nakayama attended the Anglican Theological College, now known as the Vancouver School of Theology, from 1929-1934. After being confirmed as an Anglican in 1929, he was appointed pastor of the Church of the Ascension in Vancouver, where he served until 1942. Nakayama was ordained as a deacon in 1932 and as a priest in 1934. Nakayama had two children around this time: Timothy Makoto (b. 5 Oct. 1931) and Joy Nozomi (b. 6 June 1935).

During the internal displacement of Japanese Canadians during World War II, Nakayama served as pastor at the Slocan Japanese Anglican Church from 1942-1945 at the Slocan, B.C. internment camp. Following the war, Nakayama and his family were sent to Coaldale, Alta., to establish a Japanese Canadian Anglican Mission. Nakayama served as pastor and later vicar of the Church of the Ascension in Coaldale from 1945-1978. Nakayama was appointed vicar of the Parish of Coaldale by the Diocese of Calgary in 1955, served as rural dean of Lethbridge from 1961-1964, and was given the honorary title of Canon of St. Paul of the Cathedral Church of the Redeemer in Calgary in 1966.

In 1970, Nakayama officially retired, but carried on work at the Church of the Ascension until 1978, at which time he moved to Vancouver. Nakayama then served as priest-in-charge of the Holy Cross Anglican Japanese Church in Vancouver from 1978-1979. In retirement, Nakayama focused more on missionary out-reach work, which he had conducted throughout his career beginning in the 1930s. As a missionary, Nakayama traveled to most major cities in Canada and the United States, Japan, many countries in South America, Europe, Africa, and the Middle East.

Nakayama wrote nearly 20 books, primarily in Japanese, including religious tracts and collections of sermons, biographical or autobiographical books, non-fiction works on the Japanese Canadian / Issei community, and poetry collections, as well as a number of articles and pamphlets. Nakayama's works include "A Flower in the Shade," about Lois Nakayama, "Issei: Stories of Japanese Canadian Pioneers," "The Divine Love," "The Story of My Life," "Beautiful Stories of Conversion," "The Way of Oremus (the Way of Prayer)," and "My Missionary Trip Around the World." A one hour documentary film, "The Tides of War," which was produced by Global TV, incorporated 16 mm film taken by Nakayama before and after World War II.

In 1994, Nakayama confirmed and admitted via letter and to an Anglican Church official to significant immoral sexual conduct over many years while in the office of priest. In February 1995, Nakayama voluntarily resigned the privileges of his ministry. Nakayama died on 8 Oct. 1995.

In March 2014, Nakayama's children, Joy Kogawa and Timothy Nakayama, published an open letter in the Japanese Canadian Citizens' Association's The Bulletin, acknowledging an initiative underway by the JCCA Human Rights committee to disclose Nakayama's offences (<http://jccabulletin-geppo.ca/an-open-letter-to-japanese-canadians/>). Later in May 2014, the Reverend Nakayama Disclosure Project Working Group was announced. On 15 June 2015 at the Vancouver Japanese Language School, an official apology was issued by the Right Reverend Gregory Kerr-Wilson, Bishop of the diocese of Calgary, and the Right Reverend Melissa Skelton, Bishop of the diocese of New Westminster, to all members of the Japanese Canadian Community affected by abuse perpetrated by Nakayama.

Custodial history

Prior to being transferred to Rare Books and Special Collection in the mid-late 1990s or early 2000s, materials were stored at the Galt Museum and Archives in Lethbridge, Alberta, which stored materials deposited by Joy Kogawa for a number of years.

Scope and content

The fonds consists of textual records, photographs, and audiovisual materials, spanning the period 1905-2001, related primarily to Gordon Goichi Nakayama's career with the Anglican Church of Canada and missionary work, religious and secular research and writing projects (the latter primarily related to Japanese internment and the Japanese Canadian community), as well as his personal and family life and administrative affairs. The fonds is arranged by function and documentary form. The fonds consists of eight series: Personal and administrative records and correspondence; clippings and ephemera; photographs; writings and publications; diaries; notes and notebooks; church and missionary work records; and audio-visual materials

Records related to Nakayama's roles with the Anglican Church in Vancouver, B.C., and Coaldale, Alta., and his global missionary work include travel documents and itineraries; incoming and outgoing correspondence; church financial records and reports; church publications and parishioner lists; licenses and certificates; conference materials; clippings and ephemera; diaries; notes and notebooks; and other materials.

Records relating to Nakayama's religious and secular research and writing projects include manuscript and typescript drafts, as well as final published versions, of religious and biographical / autobiographical works, non-fiction works on the Japanese Canadian / Issei community, and poetry, as well as supporting materials, such as publishers' contracts and correspondence and research materials.

Records related to Nakayama's personal and family life and administrative affairs includes incoming and outgoing correspondence; address books and directories; maps; photographs; calligraphy and paintings on shikishi; medical records; travel documents and citizenship records; pension records; records and correspondence related to redress; legal documents; certificates, licenses, and membership cards; property and real estate records; banking and financial records; educational records; biographical information; clippings (many related to Joy Kogawa's writing career), ephemera, and scrapbooks; notes and notebooks; and other materials.

Audio-visual materials consist of two films on three 16 mm film reels on the subject of World War II and Japanese culture.

Diaries

Date: 1905-1995 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

The series consists of diaries related to Nakayama's church and missionary work, as well as his personal life. In addition to lists of daily activities, the diaries recount church business, family events, travel, and world and local news. In addition, the diaries contain theological reflections, names and addresses, and general notes, including memos on expenses, investments, and personal details, such as insurance and license information. Diaries also contain laid in correspondence from family, friends, and parishioners; ephemera, including service programs; and newspaper clippings. Materials in the series are in Japanese and English.

Personal and administrative records and correspondence

Date: 1918-1995 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

The series contains records and correspondence related to Nakayama's personal life and administrative affairs. The series contains incoming and outgoing personal and family correspondence and correspondence logbooks; address books and directories; administrative correspondence and records; clippings, ephemera, and scrapbooks; maps; photographs; calligraphy and paintings on shikishi; and other materials. Personal and family correspondence includes correspondence to and from Nakayama's children Joy Nakayama Kogawa and Timothy Nakayama, correspondence to and from prayer partners and friends, holiday and greeting cards, among other materials. The series contains incoming correspondence from Japan, North America, Central and South America, Australia, and Europe. Administrative correspondence and records include medical records; travel documents and citizenship records, including passports and travel vaccination certificates; pension records; Nakayama's redress application and related records; records pertaining to personal legal proceedings; Issei book project records; certificates, licenses, and membership cards; property and real estate records; banking and financial records; educational records, including I.D. cards and certificates; and biographical information, as well as related correspondence. Ephemera in the series includes church bulletins and service programs, among other materials. The series also contains logbooks of gifts received, a Book of Common Prayer, and a Japanese Bible. Materials in the series are in Japanese, English, Spanish, and Portuguese.
