Administrative history / Biographical sketch

Note

Situated on the River Skeena, Inverness Cannery was built in 1876 by North Western Commercial Company. It was purchased from Turner, Berton Company by J. H. Todd and Sons of Victoria in 1902 who owned and managed the cannery until its closure in 1950. The cannery was destroyed by fire and rebuilt in 1920, and entirely destroyed by fire in 1973.

Custodial history

The records were acquired by the UBC special collections archivist in 1972. They were inventoried at that time but never fully processed. In 2016 the records underwent conservation treatment and some materials were removed permanently. The remaining fonds were then processed fully. No further accruals are expected.

Scope and content

The fonds consists of records related to the operation of Inverness Cannery. Records span from the early 1900s all the way through to the 1950s when the cannery was closed and turned into a fish camp.

The cannery was owned by J.H. Todd and Sons Ltd. from 1902-1950. The fonds is comprised of seven different series: Correspondence series, Financial series, Fish Canning series, Fish Catching series, Inverness Cannery School series, Legal series, and Publications, Pamphlets and News Clippings series.

Notes

Title notes

Physical condition

Many records in the fonds contained rusting inorganic materies (e.g. staples and paperclips). The archivist has attempted to remove them all, but some most likely remain and should be removed in the future for long-term preservation.

Arrangement

The original physical order of some files has been maintained, especially where files were arranged chronologically, as in the Correspondence, Fish Catching, and Canning series. However, the remainder of the records have been physically re-arranged to reflect the order represented in this description.

Restrictions on access

No access restrictions have been applied.

Fish Catching

Date: [ca. 1900-1965] (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Series consists of captain's and fisher persons' logbooks, journals, ledgers, boat and boating equipment records, and traps and trap equipment records. Inverness Cannery caught and canned five species of salmon: sockeye, pink, chum, coho, and spring, as well as halibut, tuna, and herring. They used Troll fishing boats, Gillnet boats and Seiners, as well as operated 5 freshwater salmon traps. Statistics relating to fish catches and fish packs, as well as river and weather conditions are available in the series. Workers in the cannery included Chinese, European, Indigenous, and Japanese men and women, and records relating to these individual groups are available in the series. Records in relation to World War One and World War Two are also in this series, including impoundment and sale of Japanese owned vessels, and applications for delayed military service for commercial fishermen.
