Note [generalNote]:	Note on Terminology and Access: Forestry land surveys, including maps and plans, provide an important site for researching land use history in British Columbia. Because of the historical and ongoing occupation of unceded Indigenous lands, and the resulting creation of Indian Reserves under the Indian Act, Indian Reserves are often noted in maps and plans used by Forestry companies. At RBSC, we always utilize the terms Indigenous, First Nations, Inuit, or Métis when referring to Indigenous Peoples, however, in the present context of the Indian Act and the reserve lands created through it, we use Indian Reserves in this specific case to promote access to researchers who are searching using this legal term. Reserves are present on some of the maps, and where present, the archivist recorded these reserves in the file-level description. Sometimes the name of a particular First Nation is listed, and sometimes just the number of the reserve. Researchers who wish to locate maps with First Nations reserves listed on them may search using the term ‘Indian Reserve’.

Administrative history / Biographical sketch

Note

Gordon Stanley (Stan) Chester was born on July 4, 1932 and grew up in the Kerrisdale neighbourhood of Vancouver, B.C. He attended Kerrisdale Elementary, Point Grey Junior High School and McGee Secondary School. After high school, Chester took a year off to take French at night school, in order to be able to meet the University of British Columbia's (UBC) language requirement for enrolment, and worked on a fire suppression crew with the B.C. Forest Service. In the Fall, Chester enrolled at UBC, pursuing a degree in Agriculture. During the summer after his first year at university, he again worked for the B.C. Forest Service. When Chester returned for his second year at UBC, he switched to the Forestry program, graduating in 1956.

Chester's first job after graduation was with the fire protection service out of Victoria, B.C., where he worked all over the province doing visibility mapping to locate lookout points. He then went to work for the fire protection group in Ottawa, Ontario, where he stayed for four years. In 1966, Chester returned to Vancouver Island, B.C. to work for Canadian Forest Products (Canfor) in the Englewood Logging Division as a fire control officer, with responsibility for all divisional fire control matters ensuring that all fire service prevention measures were met, as well as preparing all of the slash burning plans. In 1976, Chester moved his family to Vancouver, B.C. where he continued to work for Canfor. Chester spent approximately twenty years working for Canfor in Vancouver, where he was primarily responsible for stumpage – the price that a logging company pays to the province to harvest timber in a particular area. He retired in the late 1990s.

Throughout his career, Chester was very involved in supporting the field of forestry through the Association of B.C Forest Professionals and the Forest History Association of British Columbia, where he served as President.

Chester died on April 28, 2022.

Scope and content

The collection reflects Stan Chester's thirty-plus year career in the forestry industry, primarily with Canadian Forest Products (Canfor).

The collection consists primarily of maps created by Canadian Forest Products Ltd, as well as many of its logging divisions – Englewood Logging Division, Harrison Mills Division, Renfrew Division, Sooke Division, Spring Creek Division and West Coast Division. Geographic regions covered include primarily Vancouver Island (Rupert Land District) and the Lower Mainland of British Columbia (Chehalis Lake Dominion Railway Belt, Dominion Railway Belt, New Westminster Land District), but also the Central Coast, Northern British Columbia, the Okanagan, and Southwest British Columbia.

Maps were cruised by many different individuals and companies, but where the name of a cruiser is present on the maps it has been recorded in the file-level description. Of those with recorded cruisers, the majority of the maps have been cruised by Eustace Smith. Other cruisers with more than one map in the collection are Ray Smith, E. Mulock, Porteous & Porteous, and C. Davis.

Where present on the maps, cruise summaries indicate which species of trees are present, such as: fir, cedar, cottonwood, cypress, hemlock, balsam, pine, and spruce and can be searched using those terms. Records include topographical maps, cruise maps, logging plans, logging camp maps, fire patrol maps, contour maps, road maps, history maps, blueprints of machinery or structures, technical drawings, architectural drawings, negatives, spreadsheets, transparencies and a hydrograph.

Notes

Title notes

Physical condition

Some maps are very fragile and should be unrolled with care. Specific issues have been noted at the item level where appropriate.

Immediate source of acquisition

All records were donated by Stan Chester.

Arrangement

There did not appear to be any order to the materials; therefore, the collection was processed in the order in which materials were received, ensuring that information about maps that were rolled together was noted.
