Fonds Description

Sustainable Development Research Institute fonds. – 1985-1996; predominant 1991-1995.

5.70 m of textual records.

25 computer diskettes.

Administrative History

The Sustainable Development Research Initiative (SDRI) was established in April 1991 to foster policy relevant research on sustainable development. The Initiative encourages interdisciplinary collaboration among the faculty, departments and centres at UBC, as well as other institutes and programs undertaking sustainable development research in Canada and around the world. In pursuit of this, the Institute has hosted workshops and conferences, including the 1994 "Women and Sustainable Development: Canadian Perspectives" conference. It also carried out and coordinated research on sustainability and the relationships that connect and influence the environment, the economy, and society.

After an extensive review, SDRI merged with the Institute for Resources and Environment (IRE) to form the Institute for Resources, Environment and Sustainability in September 2002. SDRI was renamed the Sustainable Development Research Initiative, and continued as a major research focus within IRES.

Scope and Content

The fonds consists of records which document the origins of SDRI and reflect its activities during its first five years of existence, and includes correspondence, reports, minutes, financial records, and published materials, in both textual and digital format. It is arranged in five series (Central Files, General Correspondence, UBC Correspondence, Subject Files, Research Projects) and one sous-fonds ("Women and Sustainable Development: Canadian Perspectives" Conference).

Notes

Fonds consists of institutional records – access requests must be reviewed by the University's FOIPOP Coordinator.

It was led and chaired by Ann Dale, then Senior Associate at SDRI. The conference produced over 100 policy recommendations leading into the 1995 UN Fourth World Conference on Women in Beijing.

Sous-fonds consists of records documenting the planning and organization of the "Women and Sustainable Development: Canadian Perspectives" conference, including correspondence, reports, minutes, and published materials. It is arranged in two series: Conference Proposals, and Miscellaneous Files.
