Collection Description

UBC Faculty Publications Collection (various collectors). – 1918-1985.

22 m of textual records.

Administrative Sketch

Prior to the establishment of the University of British Columbia Archives in 1970, the UBC Library began to collect copies of faculty publications. Although not necessarily comprehensive, the collection of material grew over time with the Library periodically sending out notices to faculty members inviting them to deposit copies of off-prints and articles. The University Archives continued to collect this material until the practice was discontinued in 1990.

Scope and Content

The collection consists of off-prints and copies of articles and reports arranged alphabetically by faculty member name.
