Dear Carolyn:

I'm so glad, since I've stopped making the annual trip to the workers' union meeting that you've found reasons to come west, giving us a chance to keep in real touch.

I'm getting acquainted with my new typewriter, and it begins to please me. Without it I'm sure I would have given up or the short trips I still occasionally do, and I'm not really ready to quit that completely.
But it will be lovely not to haul a typewriter with me where we go to the desert for a couple of weeks. That's freedom!
