Dear Sirs:-

In reply to your inquiry of October 15th, I beg to say that no special documents or forms are required for the re-entry of returned goods to Germany. It will be up to the German consignee to prove to the German customs authorities, on the strength of his invoices, that the goods in question are returned goods. It might be helpful if you would return to the shippers the original invoices for submission to the German customs authorities.

Yours truly,

for L.Kempff
German Consul General.
