INTRODUCTION

Frank Fuller was born in Forth Worth, Texas in 1917. Doris Fuller was born in Stockton, California in 1922. They were married in Texas in 1945 and moved to San Jose, California in 1946. During this time, Doris worked as an opera singer, newspaper reporter, cashier, cannery worker and secretary. Frank, after his discharge from the U.S. Army Air Force was an industrial worker and union organizer in the electrical industry. While raising four children, the Fullers pursued educational interests in Seattle, San Jose, San Francisco, Eugene, and Portland. Both were awarded Bachelor's degree in Geography (Frank in 1961, Doris in 1962). In 1963, they began careers as teachers - Frank as a high school social studies teacher and Doris as a school librarian. From 1965 to 1967 Frank was International Asst. Director of Education & Research for the Int. Woodworkers Union out of Portland.

In 1967, the Fullers moved to Sechelt, B.C. where they continued their professional careers and interest in labour activism. Doris became president of the Sechelt Teacher's Association, and Frank was appointed to head the Labor Liaison Task Force of the B.C. Teacher's Federation.

In the latter years of his career, Frank became the founding president of the Labour History Provincial Specialist Association of the BCTF, an organization dedicated to developing curriculum materials on labour history for B.C. schools. In 1980, he developed a curriculum on the Sechelt Indian cultural heritage. In 1981 was given an Honorary Life Membership by the B.C.T.F. In 1985 Doris was elected to the School District 46 Board of Trustees and Served until 1987.

The Fullers' papers reflect their professional careers, labour activities, and personal lives, but the largest subgroup of the collection concern the activities of the Labour History Provincial Specialist Association of the BCTF, and the Sechelt Indian Curriculum project.
