THE LITERARY STORE FRONT PAPERS

INTRODUCTION

The Literary Storefront was established in Vancouver, B.C. in 1978 as a kind of drop-in centre for West Coast and Canadian literati. It was modelled in spirit after other venues such as: Ferlinghetti's City Lights bookshop in San Francisco, Shakespeare & Co. in Paris, France, and the Gotham Book Mart in New York City. The Literary Storefront (the LSF) sought to provide a similar environment where writer's and readers could meet and talk about their work in an informal setting and attend readings by writers from around the world.

Under the direction first of Mona Fertig, its founder, then later Tom Ilves and Wayne Holder, the Literary Storefront in addition to the readings, held workshops, lent books, offered courses and manuscript assessment services. It published the work of local writers in several publications over its six year existence. These were: The Literary Storefront Newsletter, the Birthday Book, Vancouver Literary News and Arts Guide.

The LSF was a non-profit society that had approximately 500 members. The financial records indicate that the LSF ceased to operate in late 1984.
