Introduction

Olea Marion Davis (née Montgomery) was born on the 20th May, 1899 in Buffalo, New York, of Canadian parents. After graduating from McGill University with a diploma in Physical Education, Olea Davis studied at the Ecole des Beaux Arts, Montreal; the Ontario College of Art, Toronto, and at the Vancouver School of Art under Marega.

Following her marriage to Henry Roy Landerkin Davis in 1926, Mrs. Davis moved to British Columbia, there to become one of the province's cultural pioneers. An accomplished artist and craftsman who was concerned with upgrading standards in the field, Olea Davis taught, organized, and promoted ceramic art at every opportunity. Among her many achievements, Mrs. Davis is credited with being the founder and first president of the B.C. Potters' Guild; she was also instrumental in starting summer schools to assist talented potters, and for thirteen years taught a course in ceramics at the University of British Columbia, Dept. of Extension, Fine Arts Division, where she persuaded many gifted artists to submit their work to international competitions and exhibitions. Mrs. Davis was concerned with educating the public through craft demonstrations and, working with the Community Arts Council, succeeded in establishing the first craft outlet in Vancouver.

During W.W.II, Mrs. Davis founded the Allied Officers Guild in B.C. Later, she designed and promoted the "dogwood" lapel ornament as a money-making idea for a wartime women's auxiliary. In 1956, the "dogwood" was adopted as the official floral emblem of B.C.

Olea Davis is represented in the permanent collection of Art, Washington, D.C.

Name of creator: Olea Davis (1899-1977)

Olea Marion Davis (nee Montgomery) was born on the 20th May, 1899 in Buffalo, New York, of Canadian parents. After graduating from McGill University with a diploma in Physical Education, Olea Davis studied at the Ecole des Beaux Arts, Montreal ; the Ontario College of Art, Toronto, and at the Vancouver School of Art under Marega .

Following her marriage to Henry Roy Landerkin Davis in 1926, Mrs . Davis moved to British Columbia, there to become one of the province's cultural pioneers . An accomplished artist and craftsman who was concerned with upgrading standards in the field. Olea. Davis taught, organized, and promoted ceramic art at every opportunity. Among her many achievements, Mrs . Davis is credited with being the founder and first president of the B.C . Potters' Guild; she was also instrumental in starting summer schools to assist talented potters, and for thirteen years taught a course in ceramics at the University of British Columbia , Dept . of Extension, Pine Arts Division, where she persuaded many gifted artists to submit their work to international competitions and exhibitions . Mrs. Davis was concerned with educating the public through craft demonstrations and, working with the Community Arts Council, succeeded in establishing the first craft outlet in Vancouver.

During W .W .II, Mrs. Davis founded the Allied Officers Guild in B .C . Later, she designed and promoted the "dogwood" lapel ornament as a money-making idea for a wartime women's auxiliary . In 1956, the "dogwood" was adopted as the official floral emblem of B .C . Olea Davis is represented in the permanent collection of Art, Washington, D .C .

Scope and content:

The accrual to the fonds consists of 307 color slides, related notes, and descriptions of the slides.

Notes Area:

Immediate source of acquisition: The accrual was donated in 2010 by the Potters Guild of British Columbia.

Physical condition: Materials are in good condition.

Finding aids: RBSC staff created a file level finding aid for the fonds in 1986, available as a pdf through this database. This was updated with an addendum in April of 2019 to reflect the accrual to the fonds.

Arrangement:

The slides were donated in binder with the note "Santo organized Olea Davis Slides. January 2006". Slides have been removed from the binder for preservation but the order in which they were arranged has been preserved by the archivist, along with the descriptions which accompanied each sleeve of slides.

General note:

Includes the following photographs: RBSC-ARC-1161-PH-01 to 307.

Control Area:

Dates of creation, revision, deletion: Addendum created by Claire Williams in April 2019.
