Your names have been passed along to me as people that are interested in day care at UBC. I am sure you are aware of the present critical situation with respect to the Acadia Day Care area.

There is an article in the collective agreement, 30.04 Daycare, that reads:

"The University agrees to do all that is reasonably possible to assist the Union in securing suitable daycare facilities for employees of the University of British Columbia, with particular reference to the recommendations of the President's Ad Hoc Committee on Day Care."

With this in mind I recently wrote to Nathan Divinsky, the Chairman of the President's Advisory Committee on Day Care stating we would like to make a presentation on day care. Joyce Diggins and I have planned to meet outside the entrance to the Acute Care Hospital cafeteria, Friday, March 19, 1982 at 11:45 a.m. to discuss just what should be in the presentation and how we should go about making our presentation. Mr. Divinsky has told me after they tour the area on March 27th he will give me a date for a meeting.

If you are still interested in this subject and have ideas that should be included in the presentation please come on Friday.

Yours truly,
